Correct Answers:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
A	B	C	B	D	C	B	D	E	B

Explanations:1.

In part A, the adjective 'vast' is not appropriate in the context and hence must be replaced with either 'large' or 'great' to make it a grammatically correct sentence.

Vast means very great in size, number, amount, or quantity and the use of the noun 'number' after it is erroneous.

We could have said 'A vast gathering of people.', which would also have been correct.

Some examples of other similar faulty constructions:

'Blunder mistake', 'the highest zenith', 'like for example', etc.

Hence, option A is correct.

2.

Double comparatives and Superlatives are always avoided. In part B, 'more' hence must be omitted to make it a grammatically correct sentence.

Exception: We have in Shakespeare- "It was the most unkindest cut of all."

Hence, option B is correct.

3.

In part C, the adjective 'absolute' must be replaced with the adverb 'absolutely' as it is modifying the adjectives 'irritated' and 'furious'.

Hence, option C is correct.

4.

In part B, the adverb 'faintly' must be replaced with the adjective 'faint' as it is modifying the noun 'noise'.

Hence, option B is correct.

5.

In part D, the verb 'chant' must be replaced with its past form 'chanted' to match the tense in the sentence.

Hence, option D is correct.

6.

In part C, the past participle of 'beat' that is 'beaten' must be used to match the tense in the sentence.

Hence, option C is correct.

7.

In part B, 'Hritik along with his family' will be considered as singular and hence the helping verb has to be in agreement with the subject.

'Are', therefore, must be replaced with 'is' to make the sentence grammatically correct.

Hence, option B is correct.

8.

In part D, the adjective 'great' or 'excellent' will be more appropriate instead of 'large' in the context.

Hence, option D is correct.

9.

The sentence is absolutely correct and thus has no error in it.

Option E is hence the correct answer.

10.

In part B, 'the accident' must be replaced with 'cases' to make the sentence meaningful and grammatically correct.

Hence, option B is correct.
