

SmartKeeda

The Question Bank

Presents

TestZone

India's least priced Test Series platform

JOIN

12 Month Plan

2017-18 All Test Series

@ Just

₹ 399/-

300+ Full Length Tests

- Brilliant Test Analysis
- Excellent Content
- Unmatched Explanations

JOIN NOW

Comprehension Test Question IBPS Clerk Pre, IBPS RRB & SBI Clerk Pre

Comprehension Test Quiz 76

Directions: Read the passage carefully and answer the questions given beside it.

Emotions often trump reason. The Cauvery water dispute is turning out to be less about water and irrigation and more about linguistic chauvinism and regional identity. Nothing else can explain the mindless violence in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu over the Supreme Court order asking the former to release water to the latter, keeping in view the distress situation in both States in a season of deficit rainfall. Many of the acts of violence have been perpetuated in the two States by chauvinistic, fringe organisations that have little to do with the farming community or its interests. It is clear that there is insufficient water in Karnataka's reservoirs to meet the full irrigation needs of both States. The point of the Supreme Court order was to make the States share their distress and not to magically fulfil the needs of farmers on both sides. But political parties and some media houses, especially regional language television channels, have sought to portray the issue as one that pits the people of one State against that of the other. Indeed, the two major national parties, the Congress and the Bharatiya Janata Party, have taken different stands in the two States on this issue. No party or State government appears to believe it can afford to be seen as taking even so much as a conciliatory step toward defusing the crisis. On some previous occasions when Karnataka released water in a distress year the State government did so quietly so as to not give chauvinistic elements any opportunity to inflame passions. Cauvery is an inter-State dispute, but this is no reason to turn the issue into a raging controversy that draws the peoples of the two States into confrontation!

1. What was the purpose behind Supreme Court's order regarding Cauvery water?

- A. To solve the irrigation needs faced by the farmers of Tamil Nadu.
- B. That the two states share their distress due to shortage of water.
- C. To fulfil the needs of the farmers in both states.
- D. To solve the irrigation needs faced by the farmers of Karnataka.
- E. None of these

2. According to the passage, the violence in states of Tamil Nadu and Karnataka is over which issue?

- A. Linguistic chauvinism
- B. Regional Identity
- C. Releasing more Cauvery water to Tamil Nadu
- D. Supremacy of one state over the other
- E. None of these

3. According to the passage, who are the drivers of the acts of violence in the two states?

- A. Chauvinistic Organisations
- B. Farming Community
- C. Political Parties
- D. The Supreme Court
- E. None of these

4. According to the passage, which of the following entities have contributed in portraying the Cauvery Issue in a way that pits the people of one state against those of the other?

- A. Political Parties
- B. Regional Television Channels
- C. The Farming Community
- D. Both A and B
- E. None of these

5. Which of the following is NOT true according to the passage?

- A. Both Karnataka and Tamil Nadu have experienced deficit rainfall this year.
- B. There is sufficient water in Karnataka's reservoirs to fulfil the irrigation demands of both states.
- C. Karnataka has released water to help Tamil Nadu in distress years before.
- D. The Cauvery Water dispute is an inter-state issue.
- E. None of these

Smartkeeda

The Question Bank

Correct Answers:

1	2	3	4	5
B	C	A	D	B

Explanations:

1.

... The point of the Supreme Court order was to make the States share their distress and not to magically fulfil the needs of farmers on both sides. ...

The passage clearly states that the Supreme Court acknowledges the shortage of water in both states and wanted them to share their problems and mitigate them by sharing river water.

Hence, option B is correct.

2.

... The Cauvery water dispute is turning out to be less about water and irrigation and more about linguistic chauvinism and regional identity. Nothing else can explain the mindless violence in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu over the Supreme Court order asking the former to release water to the latter, keeping in view the distress situation in both States in a season of deficit rainfall. ...

Go through the first few sentences of the paragraph, it can be clearly inferred that the violence is over the Cauvery river water. Options A and B can be eliminated as they mention not the actual issue for violence, but what it's turning out to be.

Hence, option C is correct.

3.

... Many of the acts of violence have been perpetuated in the two States by chauvinistic, fringe organisations that have little to do with the farming community or its interests. ...

It can be easily inferred from the passage that some chauvinistic, fringe organisations that have little to do with the farming community or its interests have perpetuated acts of violence in both states.

Hence, option A is correct.

4.

... But political parties and some media houses, especially regional language television channels, have sought to portray the issue as one that pits the people of one State against that of the other. ...

The passage clearly states that political parties and some media houses especially the regional television channels have portrayed the issue in a way that pits the people of one state against those of the other.

Hence, option D is correct.

5.

Emotions often trump reason. The Cauvery water dispute is turning out to be less about water and irrigation and more about linguistic chauvinism and regional identity. Nothing else can explain the mindless violence in Karnataka and Tamil Nadu over the Supreme Court order asking the former to release water to the latter, keeping in view the distress situation in both States in a season of deficit rainfall. Many of the acts of violence have been perpetuated in the two States by chauvinistic, fringe organisations that have little to do with the farming community or its interests. It is clear that there is insufficient water in Karnataka's reservoirs to meet the full irrigation needs of both States. The point of the Supreme Court order was to make the States share their distress and not to magically fulfil the needs of farmers on both sides. But political parties and some media houses, especially regional language television channels, have sought to portray the issue as one that pits the people of one State against that of the other. Indeed, the two major national parties, the Congress and the Bharatiya Janata Party, have taken different stands in the two States on this issue. No party or State government appears to believe it can afford to be seen as taking even so much as a conciliatory step toward defusing the crisis. On some previous occasions when Karnataka released water in a distress year the State government did so quietly so as to not give chauvinistic elements any opportunity to inflame passions. Cauvery is an inter-State dispute, but this is no reason to turn the issue into a raging controversy that draws the peoples of the two States into confrontation!

It can be easily inferred from the passage that all statements except the second one are true.

Hence, option B is correct.

Smartkeeda

The Question Bank

SmartKeeda

The Question Bank

प्रस्तुत करते हैं

TestZone

भारत की सबसे क़िफ़ायती टेस्ट सीरीज़

अभी
जुड़ें

12 Month Plan

2017-18 All Test Series

@ Just

₹ 399/-

300+ फुल लेन्थ टेस्ट

- श्रेष्ठ विश्लेषण
- उत्कृष्ट विषय सामग्री
- बेजोड़ व्याख्या

अभी जुड़ें