Hints to Remember

Who: Election Commission

What: introduces mobile app for observers called “Observers App”

When: published on 14th March 2019

The Election Commission has for the first time started using a mobile application that will help poll observers to submit reports.

The electoral body held a meeting with more than 1,800 IAS, IPS and IRS officials, besides some others from the Central services, who are to be deployed as observers in the coming Lok Sabha and State Assembly polls.

“These officers are being deployed as general, police and expenditure observers,” said the Commission. They will get all the important notifications, alerts, and urgent messages through the “Observer App”. It will help them get their deployment status, download the ID card and update their profile.

As the observers will be closely involved in real-time disposal of Model Code of Conduct and expenditure violation cases received through another mobile application “cVIGIL”, those details will also be available on the “Observer App.” The observers can make a written observation after the flying squads have investigated the matter.

Hints to Remember

Who: Aviva Life Insurance

What: launches Wings to empower women at the workplace

When: published on 13th March 2019

Aviva Life Insurance has announced the launch of 'Wings', a specially designed mentorship program to empower the female workforce, said a company statement issued today. The program is an initiative of the SHE division of the company, for mentoring all the women employees.

SHE was conceptualised in 2016 by Aviva India's Women Network, an active community of socially enabled women who take up the charge of addressing causes in the interest of women empowerment. The new initiative has been aimed to empower the women in Aviva to fulfil their professional and personal goals.

An effective practice of mentoring at the workplace helps women ideate about what they will become, giving them a clearer picture of their future and their growth prospects.
