Hints to Remember

Who: HDFC ERGO General Insurance

What: launched Mosquito Disease Protection Policy which will cover people against common mosquito-borne diseases

When: published on 13th May 2019

HDFC ERGO General Insurance Company, announced the launch of 'Mosquito Disease Protection Policy'. This policy will cover an individual against common mosquito-borne diseases like dengue fever, malaria, chikungunya, Japanese encephalitis, kala-azar, lymphatic filariasis and zika virus.

According to the report published by National Health Profile 2018, there has been an alarming rise in dengue cases in India, an increase of 300 per cent between 2009 to 2017. These diseases also lead to hospitalisation adding burden on expense or affecting the no claim bonus of any standard health insurance. Keeping this in mind, HDFC ERGO launched this new policy which will cover hospitalisation expenses incurred during the treatment of any mosquito-borne disease. Alternatively, the policyholder may opt for a lump sum amount to be paid as a policy benefit on providing the proof of hospitalisation. In addition, the policy will pay the beneficiary the sum insured in case of the policyholder's death due to the disease.

Hints to Remember

Who: Roughly 180 countries

What: agree on treaty to regulate trade in plastic waste

When: published on 11th May 2019

Nearly all countries agreed to a legally binding framework to curb plastic waste, which has become a major threat to the marine environment, the United Nations said.

Under the amended Basel Convention, which regulates the transboundary movements of hazardous wastes, dirty plastic deemed unsuitable for recycling will be added to the list of waste subject to controls, requiring consent by importing countries prior to export.

The amendment, adopted by about 180 governments, will “make global trade in plastic waste more transparent and better regulated, whilst also ensuring that its management is safer for human health and the environment,” the secretariat of the convention said in a news release.

Hints to Remember

Who: ‘Rain-loving’ snake

What: discovered in Mizoram

When: published on 11th May 2019

It’s literally raining reptiles in the Northeast, and the latest to be discovered has a Mizo name that means rain-loving.

A month after a Russian journal published the discovery of a reddish-brown pit viper in Arunachal Pradesh, the New Zealand-based journal Zootaxa has come out with the discovery of a non-venomous snake in Mizoram.

The discovery of another non-venomous snake species — the Crying Keelback, in Arunachal Pradesh’s Lepa-Rada district, was published in an international journal about six months ago.

The new genus and species of the natricine — predominantly aquatic — that took a seven-member team of herpetologists 12 years to document, has been named Smithophis atemporalis after eminent British herpetologist Malcolm Arthur Smith for his immense contribution to Indian herpetology.

Hints to Remember

Who: Lewis Hamilton

What: wins Spanish Grand Prix

When: published on 12th May 2019

Lewis Hamilton won the Spanish Grand Prix for a third consecutive year after overtaking Mercedes teammate Valtteri Bottas at the first turn in Barcelona.

Although the Finnish driver began on pole position after going fastest in qualifying on Saturday, Hamilton sped past his championship rival just seconds into the fifth race of the season.

Up until the weekend, the Mercedes pair had shared two race wins apiece in Australia, Bahrain, China and, last time out, in Azerbaijan. However, despite Bottas starting from a more advantageous position on the grid, the five-time world champion shot past him almost immediately and never looked back.

Hamilton was full of praise for his employer as he celebrated his win in the immediate aftermath.
