Correct Answers:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
A	C	B	D	E	A	C	C	B	E

Explanations:

1.

Starting fragment:

Fragments A and D can be easily eliminated as both are clearly a continuation of previous fragments. Fragment B, if taken as the first fragment, does not allow fragment A to fit in. Only C can be the first fragment.

Connectors:

C and A:

C: JNU promotes a diverse yet inclusive campus

A: and upholds a tradition of dissent which is

A and B:

A: and upholds a tradition of dissent which is

B: in line with protecting the rights of

B and D: D states the conclusion-

B: in line with protecting the rights of

D: free speech and promoting the values of democracy

Hence, option A is correct.

Starting fragment:

Fragments B, C and D can be easily eliminated as all are clearly a continuation of previous fragments. Only A can be the first fragment.

Connectors:

A and D:

A: Economic indicators relating to

D: rural economy suggest that rural

D and C:

D: rural economy suggest that rural

C: distress has worsened under the

C and B:

C: distress has worsened under the

B: four years of the present government

Hence, option C is correct.

3.

Starting fragment:

Fragments A and C can be easily eliminated as both are clearly a continuation of previous fragments.

Fragment D, if taken as the first fragment, does not allow fragment C to fit in. Only B can be the first fragment.

Connectors:

B and C:

B: In the fragile and uncertain lives

C: of poor people in Jharkhand, the

C and D:

C: of poor people in Jharkhand, the

D: public distribution system provides a

D and A: modicum means a small quantity of something desirable-

D: public distribution system provides a

A: modicum of food and economic security

Hence, option B is correct.

Starting fragment:

Fragments A, B and C can be easily eliminated as all are a continuation of previous fragments. Only D can be the first fragment.

Connectors:

D and C:

D: On the one hand, the state grabbed

C: fertile land forcefully and, on

C and D: B states the second point-

C: fertile land forcefully and, on

B: the other, remained insensitive

B and A:

B: the other, remained insensitive

A: in handling issues and grievances of affected farmers

Hence, option D is correct.

5.

The fragments are already arranged meaningfully and thus need no more rearrangement.

Hence, option E is correct.

Starting fragment:

Fragments B, C and D can be easily eliminated as all are a continuation of previous fragments. Only A can be the first fragment.

Connectors:

A and B:

A: A shift to renewable energy could

B: reduce India's carbon dioxide emissions

B and D: D elaborates on the benefits of shifting to renewable energy-

B: reduce India's carbon dioxide emissions

D: and furthermore could be the

D and C:

D: and furthermore could be the

C: basis for expanding job creation in India

Hence, option A is correct.

7.

Starting fragment:

Fragments A, C and D can be easily eliminated as all are a continuation of previous fragments. Only B can be the first fragment.

Connectors:

B and A:

B: When the Koregaon Bhima battle

A: ended, the British erected a monument

A and C:

A: ended, the British erected a monument

C: on which the names of all soldiers

C and D:

C: on which the names of all soldiers

D: who died on the battlefield were carved

Hence, option C is correct.

Starting fragment:

Fragments A, B and D can be easily eliminated as all are a continuation of previous fragments. Only C can be the first fragment.

Connectors:

C and A:

C: More than 35,000 farmers marched

A: to Mumbai from Nashik last

A and D:

A: to Mumbai from Nashik last

D: week demanding loan waivers as well

D and B:

D: week demanding loan waivers as well

B: as the implementation of the Forest Rights Act

Hence, option C is correct.

Starting fragment:

There are two possibilities here- start with fragment A or with D. When starting with A, the sequence goes like this- A-B-D-C. However, the comma after reserves in C indicates the statement is not over and thus C cannot be the last statement. Thus, this can be ruled out. The other possibility with D is the only option left then.

Connectors:

D and C:

D: Despite having no

C: domestic coal reserves,

C and A:

C: domestic coal reserves,

A: Gujarat is the second highest

A and B:

A: Gujarat is the second highest

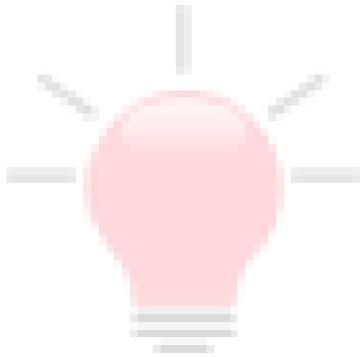

B: coal-consuming state in India

Hence, option B is correct.

10.

The fragments are already arranged meaningfully and thus need no more rearrangement.

Hence, option E is correct.
