Common Explanation (1-5):

If we read all the sentences carefully, clearly C stands out to be the opening statement of the passage because it opens up a topic for discussion.

Looking closely, we can easily figure out that only F can connect with C because it takes ahead the idea of keeping that greenery permanently.

At third place will come A as it gives a reason for the thoughtfulness mentioned in F.

Now, E will follow A because it states the action taken with respect to the feeling highlighted in A.

B will come at fifth place in support of the action taken in E.

Lastly, D will wrap the passage with more support and on an emotional note.

Therefore, the correct sequence of the sentences will be: CFAEBD.

The pandemic has given Singapore's meticulously maintained grass patches the chance to live a little.

It prompted a discussion whether the state should make wilder green spaces a permanent feature.

The sight of rarely seen wildflowers has delighted some residents, particularly children.

Its small but vocal community of nature lovers are demanding a reduction in grass-cutting.
